Sekiro lapis lazuli guide

Sekiro: Shadows Die Twice - Guides, soluce, secrets, gameplay etc. Sekiro Shadows Die Twice Guide: Lapis-lazuli, Lapis Lazuli, Improvement Released 28 Mar 2019 By Robin Raiden Robin Bouquet The ultimate improvement material in Sekiro, lapis-lazuli will ask you to sweat blood and water to get it. Here's a guide with their position. If you want to unlock the ultimate powers in your shinobi prosthetic tools as well as a few trophies, you must earn it and face some of Sekiro's worst enemies Die Shadows Twice. You can then bring your Lapis-lazuli to the sculptor for improvement. You will need a total of 11 Lapis-lazuli to improve everything, but there are only 6 known in games. This involves either getting the missing in NG, or it is a very rare object on some enemies, but this is not confirmed. Lapis-lazuli Position You get one by killing Shichimen Warrior under one of the waterfalls of the Fountain Palace. It is possible to buy 2 at Noble Koremori against 6 scales of carp for the treasure unit, in the Palace of the Fountain, near Idol in the left corner of the map. You can reach it by clinging to a branch and passing through a tunnel to the left of the large door to be opened from the other side of the castle. When the hunt for Noble Harunaga and Noble Koremori is solved one way or the other, you must see the one you have chosen to give the precious bait to the colorful Carpe boss, he will give you a Lapis-lazuli. By defeating Hate Demon in Ashina Surrounds, you get 2. These are by far the hardest to get. Check out my Sekiro: Shadows Die Twice Trophy Guide for a full breakdown of Platinum Journey and for more guides like this one! You must find a total of 10 Lapis Lazuli to upgrade all prosthetic tools in Sekiro: Shadows Die Twice. However, you can only collect 6 per play. Below is a list of all the Lapis Lazuli and where to find them, organized by Name of Location/Name of Idol. Warning: Lapis Lazuli is not available during Shura Ending. Lapis Lazuli Places Lapis Lazuli #1 Fountainhead Palace/Palace Grounds From this Idol, walk into the building in front of you and exit via the left door. You should see a waterfall on the left. At the bottom is a Shichimen Warrior. Defeat it and it will drop a Lapis Lazuli. Lapis Lazuli #2, #3, #4 Hirata Estate/Dragonspring Bridge To get this, and the 3rd, Lapis Lazuli, you must first head to the Hirata Estate and jump in the lake to the right of the Dragonspring Bridge. Swim to the far right and you'll spot a nobleman in a pot who wants to talk to you. He will ask you to find Treasure Carp Scales and offer goods to them in exchange. You need to collect 19 in total. Check out our guide on where to find Treasure Carp Scales. Once you have 19, go back to Noble Pot in Hirata Estate and exchange Carp Scales to 2 Lapis Lazuli, for 6 scales each, and spend the other 7 scales on the Mask Fragment. If you have followed our Treasure Carp Scales guide, then you will probably have already been to Fountainhead Palace and fed Giant Carp some Precious Bait. If you haven't, head there now and do it, then return to The Noble Pot, which must now ask you to feed the Giant Carp some Truly Precious Bait. Go feed giant carp the truly precious bait and then travel to Sunken Valley/Guardian Ape's Watering Hole to find giant carp corpses. Plunder the item from the mouth and take it back to noble pot. There will be a Lapis Lazuli next to him that you can pick up. Note: There is a Noble Pot in Fountainhead Palace from which you can buy the 2 Lapis Lazuli instead if the Hirata Estate Noble Pot has disappeared. Lapis Lazuli #5, #6 Ashina Outskirts/Ashina Castle Gate The last 2 Lapis Lazuli are really simple to achieve but quite hard. When you have defeated the divine dragon. Head back to Ashina Castle Gate Idol and you'll be greeted by possibly the toughest boss in Sekiro, The Demon of Hate. This is an intense fight, but if you manage to beat him, he will drop the final 2 Lapis Lazuli. You can trick the Demon of Hate into falling off a cliff that will instantly kill him. You're more than welcome to give it a go. You must now continue into The New Game+ and develop until you end up back at Fountainhead Palace, where you can pick up the first four Lapis Lazuli, which will bring your total up to 10. Using Lapis Lazuli, you can upgrade your favorite Shinobi Prosthetic Tools by visiting the sculptor at the dilapidated temple. To ensure that you get the most out of your Shinobi Prosthetic Tools, it is recommended that you take the time to the farm for Lapis Lazuli. That means, of course, how lapis Lazuli gets hold of Sekiro. To help clean up, we've put together a quick guide on ways to cultivate for Lapis Lazuli in Sekiro: Shadows Die Twice. Ways to Farm for Lapis Lazuli in Sekiro There are several different ways to farm for Lapis Lazuli in Sekiro: Shadows Die Twice, including exchanging Treasure Carp Scales and Killing Okami Warriors.© FromSoftware Lapis Lazuli is a valuable form of currency in Sekiro: Shadows Die Twice in that you can use it to upgrade your Shinobi Prosthetic Tools. There are a number of different ways to grow for Lapis Lazuli in Sekiro, with some methods being easier than others. For example, Lapis Lazuli has a chance to fall into Fountainhead Palace when you kill okami Warriors, although Lapis is a notoriously rare drop. To increase the likelihood of receiving Lapis Lazuli as a reward for killing okami Warriors, you can call Senpou Temple bell. By ringing this bell, you activate Sinister Burden, which makes the enemies you meet harder, but also the odds of receiving rare drops, including Lapis Lazuli. Alternatively, you can grow for Treasure Carp Scales by killing Giant Carp in Sekiro. Once you've done this, head over to Ashina Castle Grounds and talk to Fountainhead Pot Noble. By doing this, you can exchange your Treasure Carp Scales for Lapis Lazuli. Note Buy only 2 Lapis Lazuli this way, with each Lapis Lazuli setting you back 6 Treasure Carp Scales each. You can also get a Lapis Lazuli by following the Truly Precious Bait side quest. For more on how to get really Precious Bait and Lapis Lazuli from this, be sure to check out our previous guide. Another side search way to get Lapis Lazuli is by killing Shichimen Warrior. Again, for more on where to find Shichimen Warrior and how to kill him, read our previous guide. We were also able to get hold of 2 Lapis Lazuli by killing The Hademado, located within the Ashina Castle Grounds, although this option will not be available until much later in Sekiro: Shadows Die Twice. Again, Lapis Lazuli is valuable in that it can be used to upgrade your Shinobi prosthetic tools. By following the above suggestions, you should be able to acquire a nice inventory of Lapis Lazuli. Be sure to check back ourselves as we will update this guide as we uncover new ways to farm for Lapis Lazuli in Sekiro: Shadows Die Twice.
